

Thick gas cloud discovered over L.B.

By GILBERT BAILEY
Contributing Editor

Dense clouds of nitrogen dioxide — so thick they forced scientists to don oxygen masks — have been discovered over Long Beach and the Salinas Valley in Northern California.

The discovery was made in a unique aerial survey of smog in California conducted by the statewide air pollution control center at the University of California at Riverside and the Ames Laboratory of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Details were revealed Friday at a Los Angeles news conference.

Flights over Long Beach in mid-January revealed nitrogen dioxide levels of three parts per million parts of air — 12 times higher than the state adverse level and double the health-warning level of the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District.

A NASA plane recorded the levels as it made landings and takeoffs from Long Beach Airport.

Hermilo Gloria, program manager for the combined program, said the nitrogen dioxide cloud could be traced to the electrical generating plants near Long Beach, complicated somewhat by auto and airport traffic patterns.

The cloud over the Salinas Valley, traced to a Pacific Gas & Electric plant in Moss Landing, was twice as thick — six parts of nitrogen dioxide per million parts of air were recorded before the needle went off the scale.

The scientists on board the NASA flight in a special airplane equipped with $100,000 worth of scientific equipment, put on oxygen masks to fly in and out of the Salinas cloud.

"When the needle went off the scale, it scared hell out of me," Gloria said of the September Salinas flights.

"I'm a chemist. I wouldn't go into a room with six parts per million without a mask," said James N. Pitts, director of the statewide pollution research center at Riverside.

"It hurts your lungs," he explained.

The cloud was traced 150 miles to Paso Robles, according to Gloria.

The scientists said the cloud would probably disperse before it hit ground level, but Gloria added: "We can't guarantee that."

"You need much stricter controls on fossil fuel (coal and gas) power plants," Dr. Pitts said flatly.

The scientists also announced their studies had revealed:

— Los Angeles smog traveling 200 or more miles out to sea, then returning, and traveling to Las Vegas and Phoenix;

— The ability to fingerprint smog, differentiating between Los Angeles and San Francisco smog by the mix of hydrocarbons, where the two smogs come together at the Tehachapi Mountains.

— Multiple inversion layers, instead of just one, trapped the smog in layers, with five and possibly six discovered over the Salinas Valley and up to 16 found in the Los Angeles Basin.

As a result, the scientists concluded:

— Present air-pollution control laws may have been based on faulty information;

— Mathematical models of smog should be changed.

Lockheed guilty in Sylmar case

A Municipal Court jury in Los Angeles Friday convicted the Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Co. of concealing a gas testing meter during the investigation of the disastrous Sylmar tunnel explosion which killed 17 workers.

The firm or was deadlocked in its deliberation on the other five counts which accused the company of violating safety provisions of the state labor code.

Lockheed's resident safety engineer on the Sylmar project, Otha G. Ree Jr., 46, also was charged with the six counts but the jury either acquitted him or was deadlocked on all six counts.

The prosecution had charged that the offenses alleged in all six counts had occurred July 16.

The verdict came after almost four days of deliberation by the jury.

Judge Robert C. Nye set March 24 for sentencing. Lockheed could be fined a maximum of $500 for the guilty verdict on the one count.

Discipline against CSLB aides studied

Faculty-administration furor widens

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

Academic senators at California State College, Long Beach, unanimously authorized two faculty leaders Friday to study ways by which professors can bring discipline charges against administrators.

The vote came at the faculty senate's regular meeting where a special committee report was issued. It charges that evidence exists linking "high-level administrators, including the president" of CLSB to grade-changing allegations.

The allegations, the report notes, are similar to those which touched off the still-incomplete discipline case of tenured Spanish Profs. James Noguer and Jose Marin.

Another motion to send the report, and an earlier report by the same committee criticizing the CSLB administration, to Chancellor Glenn Dumke was defeated by a senate vote of 22-20.

The senate unanimously voted to distribute the new report to the college's entire faculty.

THE FIRST report, on possible procedural violations by the administration in prosecuting the Noguer-Marin case, was sent to all professors in January.

The report given to ac-

demic senators Friday, which carefully avoids mentioning individual names or cases, states some "high-level administrators" may have "recently applied pressures . . . on faculty members to raise grades of students."

It also charges the college administration with dragging its heels in the handling of "documented allegations against an administrator" while pursuing in "questionable" fashion

Charges against Noguer and Marin stem back to fall 1964 and spring 1965, when it is alleged they conspired to enroll and give grades to Mrs. Marin for two classes which she never attended, campus sources said.

Responding to the allegations, senators authorized the inquiry into possible procedures or precedents which professors might use to bring charges — leading to discipline hearings — against administrators "not currently covered" by the chancellor's Executive Order 113.

THE ORDER contains guidelines for faculty disciplinary cases.

The inquiry will be made by Dr. Nicholas Hardeman, chairman of the campus Academic Senate, and Dr. Joseph Wagner, chairman of the committee

Registration

Where can I register to vote? What are the deadlines for registering to vote in the primary and general elections? Mrs. L.S., Long Beach.

Anyone can register to vote at the City Clerk's office of the city in which he lives. The Long Beach City clerk's office at 205 W. Broadway is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Registrars also are available at Republican Headquarters, 3386 Orange Ave., weekdays from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. and at Democratic Headquarters, 3390 Magnolia Ave., weekdays from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The League of Women Voters' office, 1001 E. Fourth St., is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 10 a.m. until noon for voter registration. You also can call the City Clerk at 436-9041 or the League of Women Voters, 435-3968, to get the names and addresses of several deputy registrars in your neighborhood. The deadline for registering to vote in the Long Beach city primary May 9 is March 16 and deadline for the state primary and city general election June 6 is April 13. No registrations will be taken again until June 7. Persons may register from Nov. 7 general election.

Insured health

I recently read an article on government health insurance in Canada. I am retired and I have considered moving to Canada. As an alien resident, would I qualify for their health insurance? O.D., Long Beach.

Each province administers its own health insurance program and the qualifying requirements vary, according to a spokesman for the Canadian Consulate General's office in Los Angeles. In most provinces, you can qualify for health insurance after having lived as a permanent resident in the province for three months. Some provinces require you to pay a monthly premium for the insurance if you have not worked in Canada. You can get information on becoming a permanent resident by writing or calling the Canadian Consulate General's office at 510 W. Sixth St., Los Angeles, 627-9511.

Disability

In July I filed for Social Security disability benefits. I had been in the hospital four months with an infection of the heart lining and the doctor told me I couldn't work for a year. According to the Social Security office I was eligible for benefits and my papers were sent to their Maryland headquarters for final approval. In November I got a letter from them asking for more medical information. I haven't heard from them since. Can you help me. I'm in desperate need of the money. R.E.H., Lynwood.

By now you have been contacted by Lewis E. Moore, disability unit supervisor with the Social Security Administration in Huntington Park. He told ACTION LINE he would call you to tell you your claim was rejected but you may appeal if you wish and he will help you file. At ACTION LINE'S request, he checked and learned the Social Security office in Baltimore, Md. had written to you Jan. 14 advising you your claim was rejected and telling you of your right to appeal. Evidently you never received their letter. Part of the earlier delay in processing your claim was caused by your filing for it through that office and also through the Long Beach office, Moore said.

Now fly right

On Sept. 2, I ordered three volumes of the Federal Aviation Regulations from the Government Printing Office in Washington, D.C. I sent them a $15.50 check which they cashed. I haven't received the books nor an answer to my letters of inquiry. I have also written them giving my change of address but they still send order booklets to my old address. Anything you can do would be appreciated. N.W.R. Jr., Cerritos.

You should receive the three volumes soon, according to Mrs. Gloria Johnson with the printing office's customer service department. She couldn't say what had caused the long delay but said it usually takes about eight weeks to fill orders and answer inquiries. They are changing over to a computer system to handle their correspondence and she said this should reduce the time. If you will send in your change of address to her at Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, P.O. Box 1533, Washington, D.C. 20013, Mrs. Johnson said she would take care of it. Other readers with similar problems can write directly to her.

REACTION

On Feb. 4, ACTION LINE printed a question from a person identifying himself as a microbiology student at Long Beach City College who claimed to have found "as part of a project," dangerous bacteria in the Colorado Lagoon. The student involved has never taken microbiology at city college and did not test the water samples as he claimed. I instruct microbiology at city college and this incident has made me look like rather a fool. This person has never been a student of mine. Mrs. V.T., Long Beach.

Angela attends 'brothers' trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Angela Davis Friday attended the trial of the "Soledad Brothers," whose release from prison she championed before she allegedly was involved in a violent attempt to free them. Miss Davis faces murder charges next week in connection with that attempt.

Accompanied by about 10 friends and bodyguards, the 28-year-old black militant arrived at the Hall of Justice less than 40 hours after she was freed on bail Wednesday night. Her appearance prompted Judge S. Lee Vavuris to warn the courtroom spectators against "black power" salutes or other manifestations.

The Soledad Brothers, Fleeta Drumgo and John Clutchette, are charged with the murder of one guard at the Soledad state prison. A third "brother," George Jackson, was killed in an alleged escape attempt at San Quentin prison last August.

Miss Davis is charged with purchasing several guns which the brother of George Jackson, Jonathan, smuggled into a Marin County Courthouse and used to kidnap a judge. In the ensuing shootout with police, the judge and several other persons were killed.

When the defendants entered the courtroom, Drumgo started to raise his arm in the clenched-fist salute.

"All right," Vavuris snapped. "Watch it, Mr. Drumgo."

Drumgo complied but as he walked farther away from the bench, he made a quick half-salute.

'Persecution' for Angela bail giver

RAISIN CITY (UPI) — Rodger McAfee said Friday his wife and five sons had gone into hiding after the children were attacked by their classmates and expelled from school because he put up $100,000 bail for Angela Davis.

McAfee, a 33-year-old farmer who calls himself a Communist, signed over the deed to a $330,000 farm as collateral for Miss Davis' case was dismissed, the mother said.

Raisin City is a small rural town of about 200 persons in the rich agricultural area near Fresno.

Mrs. McAfee said her eldest son, Mark, 10, a fifth grader, was slapped in the face, kicked and had dirt thrown on him at school before the children were told to leave.

The first grader, Andrew, 6, was called a "Commie" by his young schoolmates.

McAfee, who has family land holdings valued at $1 million, put up the deed to a 405-acre ranch to provide a surety bond for the release of Miss Davis.

He said he did it as a "matter of justice and responsibility to a fellow Communist."

She said she was told the children were being expelled from the Raisin City school Friday morning.

She quoted Davis as saying: "I can't take it any longer," and telling her the children could no longer attend the school.

Mrs. McAfee said one of her children had been beaten up at school and the others were abused.

She said she was told the children were being expelled from the Raisin City school Friday morning.

Top Demos miss key busing vote

Associated Press

The five Democratic senators seeking the presidential nomination spent Friday on the campaign trail, missing a Senate vote in which a proposal to end court-ordered busing was approved by a narrow margin.

The 43 to 40 vote came on an amendment offered by Sen. Robert Griffin of Michigan, the Republican whip, to a higher education-school desegregation bill.

Passage of the amendment overrode a compromise measure, approved Thursday 51 to 37, which would have imposed relatively mild limits on busing.

Of the five would-be presidential candidates, only Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington had announced opposition to the original compromise: Sens. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Edmund Muskie of Maine and George McGovern of South Dakota, all said they would have voted for the compromise if they'd been present and Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana expressed pleasure at the outcome of the Thursday vote.

All five presidential hopefuls have announced or indicated their opposition to the Griffin amendment. Had they been present and voting Friday, the amendment would have been defeated.

CAMPAIGN '72

Jackson has opposed both the Mansfield-Scott measure and the Griffin amendment.

The Griffin amendment, in addition to affecting the powers of the courts, would prohibit federal officials from withholding or threatening to withhold any government funds in order to coerce a local school district into accepting a busing program to achieve desegregation.

In the race for the nomination, meanwhile, Humphrey filed for the June 8 New Mexico presidential primary which Jackson, Muskie and McGovern already have entered.

New Mexico Secretary of State Betty Fiorina said she had received the $500 filing fee from Humphrey and added that a representative of Mayor John Lindsay said the New Yorker's filing fee was on the way.

McGovern, in a radio interview in New Hampshire, said he would not accept the second spot on the ticket. "If I don't get the presidential nomination," he said, "I'd rather stay on as a senator."

In other campaign developments Friday:

Hartke — The Indiana senator, in a radio interview in New Hampshire, said neither Muskie nor McGovern can beat President Nixon. "Neither one of them has demonstrated that they could beat a man who should be easily defeatable this year and that's Richard Nixon," said Hartke.

McGOVERN — The South Dakota senator, whose schedule included tours of Manchester, N.H., area industries, said he was "narrowing the gap every day" between him and Muskie, rated the front runner for the March 7 primary.

Later in the day, McGovern visited Milwaukee, formally opening his campaign for votes in Wisconsin's April 4 primary. He visited the home of Robert Wysocki, a mechanic, and told newsmen the Nixon administration's economic policies have been a "disaster." He said, "I'm sick and tired of a tax structure which gives special benefits averaging about $14,000 a week to millionaires and about 30 cents a week to families living in poverty."

Humphrey — The former vice president and 1968 Democratic presidential candidate proposed creation of a new national service corps to focus on "the countless unmet domestic needs that the present administration has neglected." Humphrey said the organization would be called Americans for Domestic Development. He spoke at Florida Southern College in Lakeland before a scheduled return to Washington.

Chisholm — U.S. Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., said she sought the presidency to protect the "have-nots." Speaking to students at Palm Beach Junior College in Lake Worth, Fla., Mrs. Chisholm said, "Any society with so many people rocking the boat at one time is indicative that something is not quite right in the republic . . . The have-nots have to get together."

Lindsay — The New York mayor proposed a national retirement system for the elderly that he said would increase permitted earnings for those on Social Security and move the country toward a $4,500 minimum income for an elderly couple. The mayor made the proposal in a statement issued by his campaign headquarters in New York.

Connally — Treasury Secretary John Connally, a Texas Democrat appointed by Nixon, was asked Friday whether he was considering running for the vice presidency. "No sir," Connally said, adding that he didn't know what part he'd play in politics this year, but "I don't anticipate that I will engage in the active political arena as we normally think of it."

Muskie — Muskie issued a statement calling for a major attack on crime. He said the program should be "far more ambitious and imaginative than any program in the field we have tried so far." Muskie said his program would direct more federal funds to high crime areas, increase funds for correctional programs and strengthen judicial systems.

McCloskey — U.S. Rep. Paul McCloskey of California, challenging Nixon for the Republican nomination, said the Vietnam war is still an important issue. Speaking in Newport, N.H., McCloskey referred to the upcoming primary and said: "The real issue in March is whether or not the people will vote to sustain the President's position, and if they do, I think he will continue the war indefinitely." McCloskey also said Nixon's China trip is "a travelogue to divert the attention away from the primary issues."

U.S. urged to level states' school spending disparities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pointing out that New York spends $1,500 per student but Alabama only $500, Education Commissioner Sidney P. Marland said Friday the administration should consider plans to equalize spending by the states for the nation's public schools.

The administration already is considering plans to eliminate disparities within a state, Marland said, and eventually will have to consider disparities among the states.

"SOME EFFORT must be made at least to modify these differences," Marland said in an interview.

He said he favored a plan to increase the federal share of public school costs from the present 8 per cent to between 30 and 40 per cent.

Marland said the administration is especially concerned about the vast differences in spending within a state. A wealthy district in Indiana, for instance, makes $2,100 available for each child in average daily attendance while the poorest district provides only $580.

"At this time the administration is dealing only with the in-state equity issue," Marland said. "The interstate issue will, I believe, be confronted eventually."

IN HIS STATE of the Union Message President Nixon said he will propose this year recommendations for relieving the burden of property tax, the primary methods of financing the public schools. The President's Commission on School Finance, which Nixon charged two years ago to offer such recommendations, is scheduled to make its final report in a few days.

In recent months courts in California, Texas, New Jersey and Minnesota have pointed out the disparity in school and living costs and some by different levels of educational services.

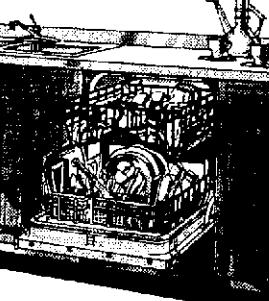

Last school year, the states paid 39 per cent of elementary and secondary school costs and local government 53 per cent.

"While the administration is not ready to propose an examination of the interstate disparities, we in the Office of Education have gathered data on this in anticipation that the other shoe will drop," Marland said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Armed Services Committee raised a slowdown signal Friday for the Pentagon's plan to speed up development of a big new submarine missile system as a counter to recent Soviet strategic advances.

It rejected a plan to provide an additional $35 million in the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, for the Underseas Long Range Missile System (ULMS), and said the speedup would be considered when it takes up the regular Pentagon budget for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

Committee sources said the decision represented both a procedural decision against a separate bill for the current year and a feeling of "some skepticism" over the Pentagon's plans to jump ULMS spending from about $100 million this year to $942 million next year.

A statement by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said "Technically, the Pentagon had not asked the committee to authorize legislatively" the extra funds but "had asked for the Committee's informal approval of the supplemental requests" for ULMS and other projects.

The sources said this unusual procedure was occasioned by the fact that the Pentagon had funds available and wanted a go-ahead to use them for ULMS.

The committee also deferred a $128.8 million supplemental request to speed procurement of four Boeing 747 jumbo jets to be equipped as advance airborne command posts, replacing the current 707s.

The committee approved a House-passed bill authorizing the Navy to lend six submarines and 10 destroyers for five years to foreign nations. The plan includes:

— Five destroyers and two subs for Spain;

— One destroyer and two subs for Turkey;

— Two destroyers each for Greece and Korea; and — Two subs for Italy.

College told: cooperate on ROTC or lose defense aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. F. Edward Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, threatened Friday to cut off all defense funds to colleges and universities not cooperating "one thousand per cent with the military."

Addressing a convention of the Reserve Officers Association, the Louisiana Democrat used the strongest language yet in a growing controversy over where military officers can go to school.

Hebert said he expected the Pentagon to abide with his wishes despite a statement earlier this week that it would continue sending officers "to the most appropriate graduate schools."

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has indicated he opposes the blanket policy demanded by Hebert and hopes to work out some sort of arrangement with the committee chairman.

"There will be no defense funds going to any university in this country that doesn't cooperate one thousand per cent with the military," Hebert said.

"But if full cooperation is not received it will be made the law, and we mean business," he said.

Congress passed a law two years ago barring research and development funds for schools refusing to allow military recruiters on campus.

Hebert's committee warned the armed forces last summer to stop sending officers to schools where ROTC courses have been phased out. The schools include Harvard, Yale, Columbia and 12 other Eastern colleges and universities.

The resolution, which now goes to the Senate, would ask Congress to stop so-called "vote projections" predicting a successful national candidate.

L.B. Civic Light Opera's 'Brigadoon' revival shines

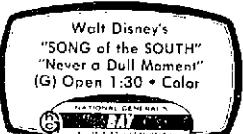

By DANIEL CARIAGA

Music Critic

The centerpiece of Long Beach Civic Light Opera's 24th season is a revival of Loewe and Lerner's (please, composer's name first) "Brigadoon." It opened a three-weekend run in Jordan Auditorium last night, runs through March 12.

NATIONAL GENERAL THEATRES

SPECIAL ACADEMY AWARD NOMINATION PROGRAMS

WORLD PREMIERE

The new production, with sets by Glen Raney and Lee Bradshaw, a bright and colorful collection of costumes (uncredited in the printed program), and a well-scrubbed young cast, manages the revival happily. The score sounds as fresh as ever, the dancing is beautifully executed, and the charms of the original remain.

Only Alan Jay Lerner's book, 25 years old a fortnight hence, shows its age. Fortunately, it has, in a few crucial places, been updated.

BUT THE show still shines. The kind of escapism it offered theatergoers of 1947 is essentially a different brand than today's audiences have grown used to, yet we can still recognize ourselves in Jeff and Tommy—the cynic and the seeker—and in the ways they resolve their problems.

The strengths in this handsome production start at the top—in the directorial team of Gary Davis (staging), Jan Ritschel (music), Richard Tarczynski (choreography), David Huhler (conducting), Kim she is on it. Roger Galloway is a suitably downbeat Jeff, Allen Johnson a nice approximation of a male ingenue as Charlie (the voice is small but on target), Barbara Dovrett an understated shrew of a Jane.

The danced roles are also strongly cast. Colette Walker is adorable but never cloying as bonnie Jean; Kathleen Melcher (Maggie) dances with considerable projection and economical, but effective, histrionics; Walt La Fontaine underplays Harry Beaton's anguish rather nicely. Tarczynski's uneventful choreography is neither greatly inventive nor particularly striking, but it works.

Leanna Nelson and Dick Johnson, the two leading players in last year's "Man of La Mancha," assume the crucial roles here, and deliver them appealingly. Neither possesses all the vocal freedom we would like, but both sing well enough, and act believably. And both execute Gary Davis' fluent staging with unobtrusive authority.

CAROL STROMME makes a crusty and irresistible Meg, never separates character from voice or song from speech, and holds the stage whenever

she is on it. Roger Galloway is a suitably downbeat Jeff, Allen Johnson a nice approximation of a male ingenue as Charlie (the voice is small but on target), Barbara Dovrett an understated shrew of a Jane.

Pacheco case ready for jury

By MARY NEISWENDER

DENISE KUSEL

The prosecution Friday asked for a second-degree murder conviction in the trial of accused wife slayer Manuel Pacheco, a former Los Angeles policeman.

His defense attorney, Kenneth Gale, said Pacheco didn't intend to shoot his wife and that the ex-officer was the "greatest loser of all."

The Los Angeles Superior Court jury will receive instructions Monday from Judge Jack E. Goertzen and is expected to begin its deliberations shortly before noon.

GALE said Pacheco, 24, was a "loser because he loved his wife, lost her and 'did not at any time shoot at or intend to shoot his wife."

Gale said that Anita Pacheco may have been alive today if Pacheco's brother, Alfredo, hadn't grabbed Pacheco's arm while trying to wrest the gun from his hand.

He implied that Pacheco was attempting to kill Albert "Rick" Thatcher, who police say was in bed with Mrs. Pacheco at the time of the shooting in the woman's Dominguez home.

ALFREDO Pacheco, a 14-year veteran of the Los Angeles Police Department, was accused by the prosecution of "crying crocodile tears" from the witness stand and suffering from the "I don't recall syndrome."

"He's a veteran policeman and has testified in court more than 1,000 times. He was asked where he was at the time of the shooting and he gave two different answers," Dep. Dist. Atty. Marsh Goldstein said.

"I expected him to do everything he could morally do to help his brother—but I think he went beyond that," Goldstein said.

GALE, a San Pedro attorney, spent a great deal of time during his summation explaining that the Pachecos were still, in effect, man and wife and that Manuel had every right to be in his own home.

"(Thatcher) didn't give her any rent. He couldn't even support her," Gale said, adding that Thatcher came to Anita after his own marriage had broken up.

Gale, who urged the jury not to be swayed by passion or prejudice, claimed that the evidence "compels a verdict of not guilty."

At one point the two attorneys clashed when Gale contended the prosecution should have called its own psychiatrist.

Goldstein jumped to his feet, shouting that the defense would not let Pacheco talk to any court-appointed psychiatrist.

"I'm concerned about the counsel's statement regarding 'passion and prejudice,'" Goldstein said.

"I'VE DONE my best to stay away from passion and prejudice. It's easy to cry about this poor little lady and show great reams of bloody pictures and bloody floors, but I don't want this case decided on passion or prejudice."

We are saying, however, that ground monitoring gives science an incomplete picture of the total atmosphere. It's like trying to measure the detailed structure of the bottom of the ocean while floating on the surface," the scientists said.

Pitts noted the heavy concentrations of nitrogen dioxide when mixed with sunlight can form "instant smog," as day breaks.

He also said smog appears to be traveling across the Los Angeles Basin, creating additional problems in Riverside and San Bernardino counties. In this comment, Pitts contradicted earlier statements by the Los Angeles APCD.

"The majority of our smog (Riverside) is coming from Los Angeles and Orange counties," he said. "Conditions in Orange County are particularly bad. The Irvine area, which used to be pretty good, is going bad with development."

He questioned the Los Angeles alert system with first alerts being called well after health affects are re-

Ex-naval officer Arnheiter asks $5 million in book suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former naval officer Marcus A. Arnheiter filed a $5-million damage suit Friday against Neil Sheehan, author of "The Arnheiter Affair," and against The New York Times and Random House, Inc.

Random House published

Sheehan's book describing the relieving of then Lt. Cmdr. Arnheiter from his command of the Vance, a radar picket ship off the coast of Vietnam in 1966.

Arnheiter was stripped of his command because of a complaint by junior officers over disciplinary measures he instituted.

In the U.S. District Court suit, Arnheiter said that he orally agreed in 1968 to talk with Sheehan, a New York Times reporter, with the purpose of developing a news story for The Times.

He claimed Sheehan broke the agreement by writing a book that is "not fair and accurate."

He asked $5 million in punitive damages plus regular damages to be determined by the court.

3 Alcatraz Indians guilty in wire theft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three Indians accused of stealing and selling $600 worth of copper wire during the Indian occupation of Alcatraz Island were convicted Friday of theft of government property.

A U.S. District Court jury returned the verdict against Raymond Eugene Cox, 30; John D. Halloran, 27, and Frank J. Robbins, 32, after three hours of deliberation and a four-day trial.

Judge Ronald N. Davies of Fargo, N.D., on a visiting assignment, set March 1 as the sentencing date.

The three were arrested on June 11, 1971 — the same day U.S. marshals raided and reoccupied the island, which had been occupied by an Indian band since Nov. 20, 1969.

The arrests of the three came after 1,665 pounds of stolen copper cable had been sold to a San Francisco scrap metal dealer.

Julie tours Children's Hospital

By JOYCE CHRISTENSEN

Two famous names and the joy of having received a phone call from her parents from Peking marked the visit of Julie Nixon Eisenhower to the Earl and Loraine Miller Children's Memorial Hospital Friday.

Julie was met at the door by her tour hosts, Loraine Miller Collins and her husband, Lawrence A. Collins Sr. She did a double take when she saw the donor's carrousel which dominates the hospital foyer.

The name that caught her eye: Dr. and Mrs. Richard W. Nixon.

And, during the tour of the facilities conducted by Dr. Harry W. Orme, medical director of the hospital, she paused to talk with a young patient who told her he had been up since 4 a.m. watching her parents on television. His name: Bobby Kennedy.

THROUGHOUT the tour, Mrs. Eisenhower — poised, confident and with a quick, friendly smile — asked questions of Orme and listened attentively to his replies.

She paused frequently to visit with the children, several of whom presented her with gifts they had made themselves, or to shake hands with volunteers and staff members.

One little girl, glumly awaiting a tonsillectomy, was told by Mrs. Eisenhower, "I've had mine out. You'll get along fine and you'll get ice cream and jello and other good things."

When a teen-ager recovering from nose surgery presented her with handmade stationery embossed with Chinese characters she thanked him and added, "Now I can write to my friends and tell them I've been to Pecking too."

Dr. John Lungren, a long-time family friend of the Nixons and the President's personal physician on numerous trips, was met with a hug and a kiss on the cheek and inquiries about the Lungren children.

President Nixon toured Memorial Hospital of Long Beach during a visit here in 1969, prior to completion of Children's Hospital, and it was at the urging of her parents that Mrs. Eisenhower asked to tour Children's.

When asked about being in California instead of Peking, she said, "I dropped so many hints it wasn't funny," but she didn't get to go along on the trip because "I didn't qualify as an aide to Kissinger or as a China expert."

The phone call from her parents on Thursday eased her disappointment and she said they sounded fine, not tired at all, "the connection was great but I'm sure the call was bugged."

SHE SAID she is looking forward to her husband's

March 6 homecoming from deployment in the Mediterranean and their return to their apartment in Atlantic Beach, Fla.

Lucheon with 130 guests — including medical staff and hospital trustees — followed her tour.

Responding to a tribute from Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Eisenhower said, "I am pleased to be with you and to share my impressions of your wonderful hospital. You can tell about a hospital when you look at the faces of the children. If they're happy, it's a good place. It's obvious you people care about children and love them."

"It is a special delight, too, to meet so many volunteers. Volunteering is a gift of love, a service from the heart. I salute you."

Mrs. Eisenhower's day began at 9 a.m. in San Pedro when she visited Harlan Shoemaker School for mentally and physically handicapped youngsters. She showed the same intense interest she evidenced in Long Beach.

Although her own teaching career ended abruptly on its second day when a book cart toppled over, crushing her toe, she told teachers at Shoemaker that she still maintains a deep interest in elementary education.

An additional stop enroute to the hospital was made at the Institute of Lifetime Learning where she was welcomed by a large and enthusiastic crowd of senior citizens and entertained with a community sing.

Thorley, who accused Courson of not understanding the problem, said the port gets "an excellent rate of return on our investment" under the terms of the special lease agreements.

Courson didn't object to the preferential berth assignments, but said that when the Harbor Department increases tariff charges, it should also make corresponding adjustments in the special leases.

Martinair ordered a convertible cargo-passenger DC10F model for delivery in November 1973. Earlier in the week, Laker Airways, Ltd., a British airline providing both charter and scheduled service, announced a $47.3 million purchase of two Series 10 domestic models, spare parts and support services.

The Dutch order was valued at approximately $23 million, including equipment for passenger or freight operation and development of an on-board cargo-handling system to permit loading and unloading independently of airport-based equipment.

THE PURCHASE BRINGS to 13 the total of orders and options for the DC10F model, it was announced by Jackson McGowen, president of Douglas Aircraft Co. Martinair will take delivery of its plane in November 1973, through assignment of an aircraft previously ordered by another airline.

The Amsterdam-based carrier is the fourth airline this year to announce selection of the DC10 or to reorder the new Long Beach-built jetliner.

In January, Iberia Air Lines of Spain ordered three of the trijets, with options for five more, and Trans International Airlines added a third aircraft to previously ordered DC10s.

Martinair's order calls for a 345-seat single-class interior arrangement. As an air freighter, the DC10F provides approximately 16,000 cubic feet of container cargo space, or as much as four 40-foot railroad boxcars.

The complete conversion from passenger to freighter configuration can be made in 10 hours or less.

Tickets still available for L.B. health forum

Tickets still are available for the health information forum on "Headache" scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Memorial Hospital Medical Center of Long Beach, 2801 Atlantic Ave.

Speakers will be Dr. William Hyman, neurosurgeon; Dr. Jack M. Mosier, neurologist; and Dr. William Smith, pharmacist, who is pharmacy services director for the medical center.

The discussion will cover all types of headaches, including migraine, tension, vascular and those involving whiplash injuries.

Headache drugs will be discussed in detail.

Telephone reservations will be accepted today from 1 to 3 p.m. and on Monday from 1 to 4 p.m. at phone number 595-2309. "Will call" tickets will be available at the door. Admission is free.

The program will be held in the medical center's cafeteria.

New Bellflower library to be named for Bonelli

By RALPH McCLURG
Staff Writer

Bellflower's projected 20,000-square-foot library will be named the Frank G. Bonelli Municipal Library, in memory of the county supervisor who died Feb. 14.

The announcement was made Friday by Supervisor Burton Chace of the Fourth District and Bellflower Mayor J. Kimball Walker.

Bellflower was in Bonelli's First District before re-apportionment shifted it to Chace's district.

Bonelli served as chairman of the supervisor's library committee from the time of his election in 1958 until his death. He was instrumental in the planning of the projected Bellflower-Los Angeles County Civic Center, of which the library will be a part.

The library will be the first building constructed in the civic center. It will be located on Civic Center Drive between Flower and Belmont streets. Schematic plans and specifications for the library are expected to be completed in about 40 days.

Chace said, "I am delighted to join with the City of Bellflower to name the library in honor of the late Frank G. Bonelli. I believe that the city's ges-

San Pedro's Harlan Shoemaker School for mentally and physically handicapped youngsters (R) where her host was the school's principal, John Adame.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

A washed avocado seed from a recently eaten avocado, a glass of water, and three tooth picks equidistant from each other to sprout an avocado seed indoors. The tooth picks equidistant from each other and the pointed ends pushed into lower base portion of the seed approximately a half inch above the bottom. The seed is placed on the glass edge, the tooth picks hold the avocado seed bottom immersed in one-half inch of water. The glass is placed on a window sill with north exposure where it gets lots of indirect light. Gradually the roots sprout. Children would enjoy this horticultural experiment.

An avocado seed planted in the ground grows, develops into a mature tree, eventually blooms and forms some fruit. Unfortunately, in most cases, the fruit doesn't have much meat between the seed and the skin. The only benefit derived from a poor fruiting seedling avocado is an evergreen ornamental tree that provides shade.

THE gardeners can buy a dependable budded variety avocado that bears good fruit. The trees usually are available during the winter and spring as balled plants. The root ball is encased in tough burlap which is firmly tied around it with baling twine. The ball of roots should be handled carefully.

AVOCADO SEED ROOTS EASILY

It should not be picked up by the base of the trunk, because sometimes it might loosen the root ball and tear the roots.

The holes should be twice the size of the root ball and planted in prepared soil comprising two parts of organic mulch material and three parts of the soil dug out to make the hole.

The tree is placed in the hole at the proper depth where top of the root-ball soil is level with the surrounding ground. The twine around the trunk is cut, the burlap pulled away to uncover the root.

Let's learn about "crown gall" from an authoritative source.

Research division chief, Paul Cheo, PhD., pathologist and mycologist of the Department of Arboretum and Botanic Gardens, County of Los Angeles, explains about crown gall in Lasca Leaves Magazine in June 1971 issue.

First, let's learn what pathology and mycology means. Pathology means diseases, whether of plants or human beings. Note that none of the organisms which affect plants are capable of producing distinct diseases in man. Mycology is the branch of botany dealing with fungi.

Dr. Cheo explains, "Crown gall is a major disease in many areas of the world. According to an estimate made in 1963, California orchards suffered losses in excess of $6 million a year as a result of crown-gall infection. Galls vary in size up to 12 inches or more in diameter. They are composed of disorganized tissue that lacks the typical pattern of annual growth rings. Galls in the crown area are more likely to cause serious damage to girdling than gall in other parts of roots and branches, hence the name crown gall."

The bacterium responsible for crown gall is called Agrobacterium tumefaciens. It can infect most woody plants, including rose, cypress, eucalyptus, fig, olive, pyracantha, willow, and many fruit trees. The disease occurs when bacteria in the soil or on tools get into growth cracks or into wounds caused by tools — such as hoeing, diskling, or removing suckers.

Infected plants should be removed and burned. Heavily infested areas should be fumigated before replanting. A mixture of chloropicrin and methyl bromide at the rate of 320 pounds per acre is recommended. Fumigated soil, however, can be easily contaminated and quickly build up with bacteria. Bactein has been recommended by University of California for treatment of gall. The material is

The Orange County Bromeliad Society will meet at the Mira Linda School, 8899 Holder St., Buena Park Thursday. For times and other information contact the Orange County Bromeliad Society, 6135 Hwy Ave., Lakewood. Visitors are welcome.

The Belmont Heights Garden Club will hold its regular meeting Tuesday, March 7, at 1 p.m. in Wesley Hall, 317 Termino Ave. Mrs. James Lee, of the county arboretum, will show slides. Visitors are welcome.

painted over the entire gall and extended for an inch over surrounding healthy bark. For large galls, two or more applications may be required. Exposing galls to the air for several days before treatment favors absorption of Bactin and improves results. Treated areas should be left exposed for several weeks. Egetol (Sodium di-nitro-ortho-cresolate) when mixed with methanol has also been used for galls."

GARDEN CLINIC

Q. — I have purchased some cypresses leylandii trees. I would like some information as to how to prepare the ground prior to planting and any special care needed for good healthy growth.

A. — Please go back to the nursery where you purchased them and get the right name for those plants. Unless they are a very new introduction which even several nurseries that I checked with haven't heard about, you haven't been given the correct name for those plants. I could guess and say perhaps you mean Chamaecyparis. Write me again after you have double checked on the name.

Q. — In your "Garden

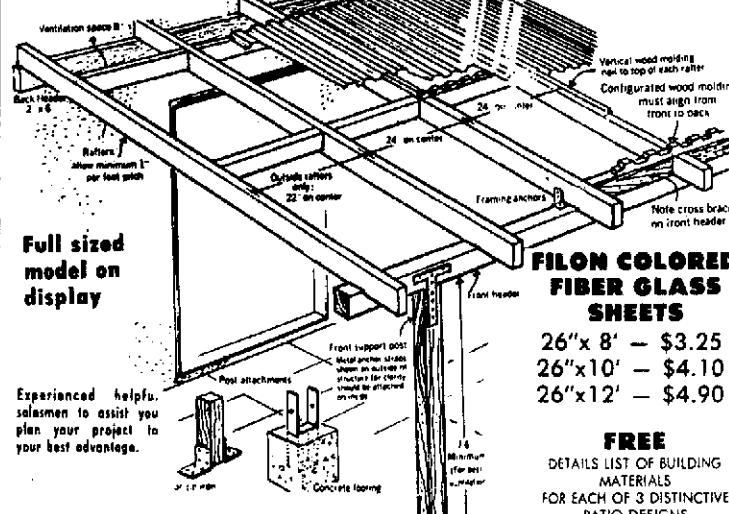

Clinic" column you mentioned that completely dead spots in your dichondra lawn indicates it had fungus and that fungicide should be applied over the whole lawn. We've had that trouble with our dichondra front lawn. Please give the brand name of the fungicide that I should use.

J. C. Perry

A. — Tom Matsuo, Landscape Contractor has had fungus dichondra lawn problems to cope with, also his colleagues. Several of them found that Lawngreen did a good control job. Check with your local nurseryman and ask him what particular fungicide his professional gardeners' trade favors.

Vigoro takes the pains out of growing.

There are nearly 200 different Vigoro lawn and garden products.

And you don't need a degree in agriculture to use them.

Vigoro plant foods feed all kinds of plants.

Our fertilizers feed all kinds of grasses.

Just as our weed killers wipe out most common weeds.

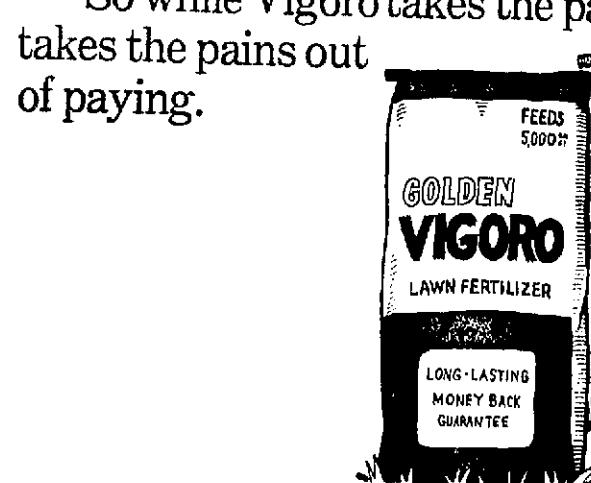

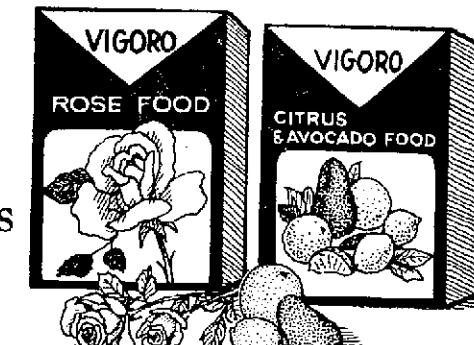

And our insecticides eliminate masses of the nasty things that chew up your garden.

We also make combination products that do two jobs at once.

And since we buy large amounts of raw materials, we can get them at a good price.

Which means we can keep our prices down.

So while Vigoro takes the pains out of growing, it also takes the pains out of paying.

Mrs. Booth dies, long a leading L.B. civic figure

Eva H. Booth, one-time superintendent of public welfare in Long Beach, and a leading clubwoman, and civic figure, died Friday at the age of 90.

A native of Macedonia, Iowa, she taught school in rural North Dakota before coming to Long Beach in 1908. It did not take her long to make her presence felt in the city. She was a member of Ebell since 1910, and its youngest president at 32. She headed the building committee when land for the present club quarters was purchased.

Mrs. Booth was one of the founders of the Friday Morning Discussion Club in 1910, and was its oldest living charter member. She remained active until a year ago.

She headed the city's public welfare department from 1927-33, and after the earthquake, played a key role on a committee to house and feed its victims.

Mrs. Booth, who resided for the past 55 years at 1835 E. Fourth St., served on the board of the Volunteers of America for 33 years. She was a member of Grace Methodist Church since 1918.

SURVIVING are a daughter, Princess Booth Ehliert of Glendale, two grandchildren, two great grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Emma B. Baltezore.

Services will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in Patterson & Snively Chapel.

REAR ADM. GREEN

Rites set for retired Adm. Green

Services will be held Monday at 2:30 p.m. for Rear Adm. Clark Lawrence Green, USN retired, a former leader of the Navy League in Long Beach. Adm. Green, who was 73, died Thursday in Community Hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Aspin, Colo., and 1921 graduate of the Naval Academy, he had a distinguished career which included two years as senior liaison officer to the British Eastern Fleet during World War II, and three years as a director of officer personnel for the Navy after the war.

He was promoted to rear admiral in 1950 and had command of Battleship Division 2 — the New Jersey, Wisconsin, Missouri and Iowa. At the time of his retirement in 1955, he was deputy commander of the Eastern Sea Frontier, headquartered in New York.

Mrs. Rosa Huber, representing the Chilean consular office in Los Angeles, will head a group of about 40 guests at the reception, according to Dr. J. Russell Lindquist, chairman of the Sister City Committee.

Interment will be in the Naval Academy cemetery at Annapolis, Md.

Boyd's barbs, controversial cardinal, reader's question

By LES RODNEY

Malcolm Boyd, Episcopal stormy petrel who is now an associate fellow at Yale, isn't all that easy to peg.

The priest who was a forerunner of the "Freedom Riders" in Mississippi, who stood outside a Missouri Synod Lutheran convention and read off the names of Americans killed in Vietnam, and who signed up as an attraction in a San Francisco night spot to rap with the customers, was asked what he thought of Jesus Christ Supperstar.

You thought he'd like it, didn't you?

He doesn't. "The next thing Jesus will be a woman," snorted Father Boyd. "I wonder if she'll be played by Barbara Streisand, or Bella Abzug, or Nancy Reagan?"

What does he think of the Jesus People movement? A creature of cheap publicity, he says.

"I don't understand people being taken in by it. There's always been a Jesus movement. It's nice to create Jesus in one's own image, but this is getting into faddism."

Which is not too unlike the opinion of many conservative Protestant ministers, otherwise worlds apart from Boyd. They would also agree in holding little regard for the ecumenical movement, though not necessarily for the same reasons.

"Ecumenism is self-destructing," Boyd says. "It tries to get everybody into the melting pot, but what we need is our own identity. Ecumenism may be just another agent for dehumanization. When they talk at top levels about ecumenism, it's just bureaucracy."

High on his list of negatives, of course, is the church itself.

"The church," he asserts, "has driven away the older people and is not attracting the young. The church has failed in trying to be relevant."

A Malcolm Boyd can play a useful role as a gadfly in a world which often needs some radical moral prodding. He can also, it seems, become infatuated with the sound of French-Swiss artist, appeared in Long Beach last fall, the sponsoirs obtained the large and convenient sanctuary of First Christian for the occasion. Mr. McLain, as host pastor, was asked to say a word of welcome to the audience, which he did, and then departed before Miss Vallotton's presentation.

The publication of the fellowship to which First Christian is affiliated, the "Lookout," ran a brief mention of the fact that Miss Vallotton appeared in the church, "where George McLain is senior minister. She did a series of drawings to illustrate Bible stories and then showed how these are related to life in this century."

Mr. McLain, writing in the church's weekly newsletter under the heading "The Vallotton Affair," says "Now let's look at the TRUTH concerning this little matter."

He says he had nothing to do with the artist's appearance in First Christian, and adds "The appearance of the Vallotton woman constituted no endorsement by any of our ministers nor by this church."

He concludes by saying he is writing to Lookout to "try to get a statement printed that will remove the insinuations of the January 16th item."

IT'S NICE to be able to honestly recommend two long-playing records put out by local churches, after taking the discs home and listening to them. "Sermon in Song" was produced at New Hope Baptist Church on Tenth and California by Dean Brown Productions. It features the most pleasant voice of the veteran pastor, Rev. N. J. Kirkpatrick in a group of familiar songs, and in an old-fashioned sermon laced with gospel music. There is an interesting song "Heaven" composed by the pastor's daughter, Hazel Henderson, and some choral effects by the Henderson Singers, a church group. This is not a slick or sophisticated album, and therein lies part of its evocative charm. The record may be purchased at the church.

"The Singing Fountains" of El Dorado Park Community Church, the drive-in church of Norwalk Boulevard in Long Beach, is presented with technical perfection by Ralph Carmichael, leading religious arranger-composer, using strings and choir for a host of goodies including The Old Rugged Cross, He's Everything to Me, No Greater Love, How Great Thou Art and the Hallelujah Chorus. Good listening.

What do you want from life?

By NORMAN V. PEALE
At a dinner party a few years ago, each person was asked to tell right off the top of his head what he wanted most from life.

"For me," said the first man, "that's easy. I want my real estate deal to pay off, and big."

"You and me both," exclaimed another. "If I make top sales for my company this year, I'll be on my way. I want to go places and might as well admit it."

The mood became a shade more serious as a woman shyly said, "I want my husband with me all my life and I want us always to be happy."

Another reflected, "I'd like my children to grow up to be good, decent people and not hit the dead-ends as some are doing. It worries me a lot."

And one man who had been having a rough time of it said wistfully, "I just want to have what it takes to take it."

"I want good health. If you've got that you've got the main thing." So said a man who was having physical troubles.

THEN THE youngest person present told us thoughtfully, "There was a speaker at my college recently who talked about spiritual power like it was something you could get. He talked about using it to serve humanity. I've decided that is what I go for. I want my life to have meaning on that level."

Quite an assortment of answers, all spontaneous but very real. Remembering that dinner conversation, I checked up on those people as they are today. The two men who wanted to be successful both made a pile of dough. But the man in real estate says he is miserable. This couple moved to super-duper suburbia, acquired three cars, country club membership — the works. He made big deal contacts and socialized with people he couldn't care less about. They began drinking like they were really thirsty.

"Life is just one cocktail party after another. That seems to be all there is to living. I'd rather have nothing and live in a fourth-floor walk-up as we do."

What do they want from life? Well, what does anyone want from life? All but one of the people at that dinner party found what they were looking for. Only one missed it. But since he knows he did, he may do a reconstruction job on himself yet! I'm not giving up on him. By reshaping his thinking and attitudes, he will probably "take hold of the life which is life indeed!"

You can always get what you really want from life.

FROM THE PULPIT
Dr. Frank Collins

Some four hundred pastors, missionaries and their wives traveled literally thousands of miles to be in our special meeting at Calvary this past week. Actually our large auditorium was taxed to capacity in attendance.

Great preaching of prophecy themes held the rapt attention of these huge crowds for four days and nights. This is indicative of the interest in the following questions.

1. What has God to say about the future?

2. What is God doing now that I may recognize as God's work?

3. What is the future for the Church?

4. What is the future for the unbeliever?

This Sunday the theme of prophecy will continue with these four questions as the outline of the Morning Message. In the evening, be sure to hear Dr. R. O. Woodworth preach his great sermon on "The Hope of the Christian."

Why face in 'Emergency' is familiar

By GEORGE ERIC
TV-Radio Editor

One of the faces in "Emergency!" the NBC series about the Los Angeles County Fire Department's Paramedic Rescue Unit, other than the five featured players, may seem familiar to you.

He's Dick Hammer, 41, of Long Beach, who actually is what he plays in the series, a fire captain. He's assigned to L.A. County Fire Department station 60, Universal City, where, incidentally, the series is shot at Universal Studio.

HAMMER was a member of the USC basketball team in 1954 — the last USC basketball squad to reach the NCAA playoffs — and in 1964 was a member of the U.S. Olympic volleyball team competing in Tokyo.

If you don't remember him for that, some of you may remember him as a teacher. For a while he was a substitute teacher here, but left the field to do acting and TV commercials.

When the series was first pulled out of its screen at Universal, Hammer, Guild card, tried out for one of the available roles, and got it.

It doesn't interfere with his regular work as a fireman. When there's a TV call, he's made arrangements to switch working days with one of the other men.

"Emergency!" airs at 8 p.m., Saturdays, Ch. 4.

AN IMMEDIATE result of the new Open Door policy in China is that TV has been able to arrange for the showing on U.S. stations of "The Red Detachment of Women," the ballet performed in Peking for President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon.

NBC will show the film at 2 p.m., March 12.

In return for rights to perform the show, NBC is making available to Chinese TV several NBC TV shows including "The Louvre," and two Peggy Fleming specials.

The Chinese film, created by a committee of performers and advisers under the direct supervision of Chiang Ching, wife of Chairman Mao Tse-Tung, is about a young slave girl who escapes from a village on Hainan Island during the 1930s and joins the woman's volunteers of the Red Army.

President's China mission caught a glimpse of the ballet. Frankly, my impression of it was that it was pure propaganda and even a bit comical.

Of course, this is just based on the bits shown, but somehow my mind kept reverting to the old melodrama with dialogue like:

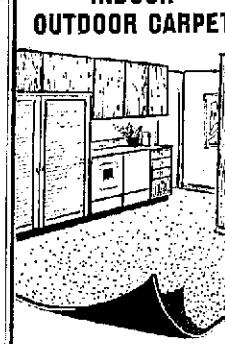

Villain: I have you in my power; pay the rent or else...

Heroine: O, who will pay the rent?

Hero: I'll pay the rent.

RADIO NOTE: The Metropolitan Opera broadcast at 11 a.m. today on KFAC (1330-AM; 92.3 FM) will be Gounod's "Faust." Prince-

65-day ABC bowling marathon opens today at Arena

Talk about a massive alley fight--this is it!

By ALLEN WOLFE
Staff Writer

A courageous band of 205 men probably never realized — beyond their wildest dreams — what they had started.

That's the number of bowlers who convened in a Chicago basement to christen the first American Bowling Congress tournament in 1901 — two years before the Wright brothers made their historic flight.

The men, some traveling 400 miles by rail to reach the tournament site, competed for four days on six makeshift lanes for a then unheard of $1,592 in prize money.

The Long Beach Arena swings open its doors today for the 60th edition of the ABC classic — and the progress in seven decades is a testimony to America's pursuit of sporting pleasure.

A gigantic field of 4,732 five-man teams — or 23,660 individuals representing all 50 states, Canada, Puerto Rico, Sweden, Japan, Finland, Bermuda, Venezuela and Vietnam — will bowl 193,946 games and topple an estimated 20 million pins before the tournament concludes its 65-day run on April 30.

This year's ABC showcase event for more than 4½ million male bowlers in the United States offers a prize fund of $602,592, third largest in tournament history.

Aside from the $602,592 bonanza for regular and classic (pro) level bowlers in team, singles, doubles and all events, a separate prize fund has been established for booster team bowlers whose five-man team average is 850 pins or less.

Although action begins with preview squads at 10 a.m., 1 and 3:30 p.m. today, official opening ceremonies are 8 p.m.

The first day fanfare of an ABC is everything you'd expect — and more from an event of such magnitude, but the formal features an unusual twist on the traditional theme.

Vikes smash Valley, but lose Metro race

By CHARLIE MACK

It should have been a happy Long Beach City College locker room. The Vikings had just smashed Valley College, 92-56, at the LBCC gym.

But it wasn't.

At precisely 9:40 Friday night, word came that Santa Monica had defeated Pierce, 57-54, to wrap up the Metropolitan Conference title.

The Vikings, who had hoped for a Pierce win to force a conference tie, were crestfallen. Playing what many thought to be the best basketball in the state, there is no room for LBCC in the playoffs.

Viking coach Lute Olson took the letdown philosophically.

"Santa Monica has a good club," he said. "They'll represent the Metro well."

But Olson couldn't help but reflect upon the game of the first half seemed to be between Viking standout Rich Plante and the Valley team.

Plante, who finished with 30 points — the seventh time this season he scored at least 30 — battled the Monarchs almost evenly throughout the opening stanza, finally losing, 18-16, due to a six-minute rest on the bench.

Spurred by a first-of-the-season sellout of 3,400, the Gauchos attacked the 49ers' zone defenses and steadily hacked their way to a 30-16 advantage with 8:04 to play in the first half.

The 49ers began to roll at that juncture, and sparked by reserve Eric McWilliams, clawed back to tie the Gauchos, 37-37, with six seconds to play in the half.

McWilliams had five points in the comeback, and it was his three-point play that tied the contest.

Santa Barbara still managed to take a 39-37 lead at the break, however, when substitute Jim Edmundson hit a 35-foot shot at the buzzer.

that may have decided the conference picture — the 74-73 loss to Santa Monica in the first round, a game which the Vikings had under control until an in-bounds pass was stolen and converted into the winning second left to play.

"That game will be the one we'll all look back at," he said.

The win over the hapless Monarchs satisfied one of Olson's goals.

"We set out to beat everyone in the second round and we did just that," he said. "Regardless of what happened in the league, we felt all along we were the best club."

Millikan puts everything together, rocks Aviation

By KEN PIVERNETZ

Any suspense about the outcome of Friday night's first-round CIF 4-A playoff game between Millikan and Aviation high schools disappeared four minutes into the second quarter.

That's when the host Rams proceeded to put everything together and run off an easy 70-49 decision, which after a hectic Moore League campaign, must have seemed like a breeze.

place in the Sky League, matched the Rams basket-for-basket for the first 12 minutes until Bill Odell went to a three-guard offense.

The Falcons until then had been successfully playing Ram guards Del Ritchie and Dan Wiley man-to-man, with their other three players in a triangle zone under the basket.

Although he made only one basket, Jerry Dykstra's presence changed the tempo of the game and enabled Millikan to increase a slim 17-15 advantage to 23-15 and eventually 29-20 at halftime.

"They were leaving the weak side open," pointed out Odell, "and when we picked up the tempo it forced them back into a 2-3 zone and seemed to turn the game in our favor."

The Falcons, who were hurt early when 6-5 center Rusty Smith was saddled with three fouls in the first 2:22, had to give ground all evening to Millikan's front line of Dan Frost, Steve Sincock and Bob Cromer, who hit 22-of-33 shots.

Frost led the way with a season-high 21 points, Sincock had 20 and Cromer had 8 points to go with a game-high 11 rebounds.

"As good as our shooting was, I thought we did an even better job of not letting the ball get inside very much," pointed out Odell. "Frost, in particular, played well."

Ritchie added 12 points on an evening the team didn't need a hot hand outside.

Mike Owen (14 points) and Joe Buscemi (12) paced Aviation. Smith, before he fouled out in the fourth quarter, managed only five points — 11 below his season average.

The Rams will play the winner of tonight's Warren-Blair game Tuesday night in the second round.

With 5:11 left in the game, Compton led Marina 33-32, but Vikings Roger Speaks and Mark Ford literally took control of the game and enabled Marina to slip by the Tarbabes.

Marina led early in the first quarter and looked as if they were going to run away with the game. Shooting by Herbert Thompson, 6-2 guard, put Compton back into the ball game and at the end of the quarter Compton led 15-9.

The Vikings were unable to hit the basket in the second quarter as Compton's tough zone defense allowed the Vikings to take their shots from the outside. Marina, also slowed down Compton with a zone defense, but it was not good enough as Compton was still in control of the lead 23-17 at the end of the half.

Compton pressured Marina even more in the third quarter but 6-7 Dean Bogdan brought down key rebounds and the Vikings hustled to within four points of the Tarbabes.

Brilliant defensive play by Mark Ford, who stole the ball three times in the fourth quarter, enabled the Tarbabes 16-11. Outstanding.

Verbum Dei, No. 1 seed in the CIF 4-A playoffs, scored a 69-57 win over Montebello Friday night.

Eddie Williams scored 22 points and center Lewis Brown added 20 to top the Oilers.

Mark Campanaro and Tom Valbren scored 22 points apiece to lead Servite past Fontana 82-61.

The Friars shot 56 per cent from the floor and outrebounded the Steelers 37-20.

Dennis Smith pulled down 11 rebounds for Servite.

John Rounhors scored 15 points to lead Valley Christian past Cerritos 69-47 in A playoffs. The Crusaders jumped into a 21-9 lead in the first quarter and never trailed.

Brethren, hampered by cold-shooting in the first quarter fell to Bell-Jeff 52-45. The Warriors hit only two-of-18 shots in the first quarter while being outscored 16-7.

The Beavers also got strong performances from Neal Jurgenson (16), Sam Whitehead (15) and Freddie Boyd (13).

time tonight against Terry Lee in the Long Beach Auditorium.

The fighting carpenter from Ventura will exhibit his unusual assortment of punches, ranging from the rooster punch to the double whammy jab, in his third clash with Lee.

Lee, who held the title for two years, lost unpopular split decisions in the previous two matches. The former all-Navy and inter-service champion owns a 22-10 professional record.

Windmill sports a 26-11-2 mark with 12 knockouts. He hopes a victory tonight will merit him shot at undefeated Mike Quarry.

In the 10-round semi-main, former state welterweight champ Gil King tackles Rosario Sazalo of Hermosillo, Mexico. King replaces Greg Pötter, who fought Wednesday.

Two six-rounders lead off the program, which begins at 8.

Mortenson man to beat as L.B.

Masters opens

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

If putting is the name of the game in golf, then the nine club champions who tee it up beginning today in the Long Beach Masters Championship should have no excuses if they falter on the greens.

The courses involved in the Masters this year are known for their fine putting carpets, and it should reflect in the lowest scores in the tournament's 16-year history.

Also, the field is at least as strong as any ever assembled, and this should make for a tight finish — something which has been lacking for the last five years.

The difference between first and second place since 1967 has not been less than eight strokes.

Old Ranch Country Club will host today's round, followed by Skylinks on Sunday, the Naval Base course March 4 and Virginia CC on March 5. All rounds begin at 10 a.m.

Dick Mortenson, who is bidding to become the first three-time winner of the Masters, is the man to beat, but he doesn't figure to match his 12 and 8-stroke margins of 1969 and 1971.

Mortenson, of Skylinks, should receive a stiff test from Fred Good (Meadowlark) and Gary Wishon (Recreation Park), and perhaps from two others, Larry Grant of Lakewood and Willard Bryan of El Dorado.

The credentials of the other four golfers don't appear to merit title consideration, but at one time or other, each has displayed championship qualities. They are Jim Craig of Virginia, Steve Reiker of the Navy, Art Haumann of Old Ranch and Bob Zalkins of Los Alamitos.

Zalkins and Haumann are subs. Los Alamitos champion Steve Cook turned pro and runnerup Norm Saunders moved out of state, thus elevating No. 3 finisher Zalkins. Haumann was second to Jack Augsberger, who withdrew due to illness.

Bryan, Craig and Good will tee off first today, followed by the threesome of Mortenson, Grant and Haumann, then Wishon, Reiker and Zalkins. In subsequent rounds, pairings will be based on scores.

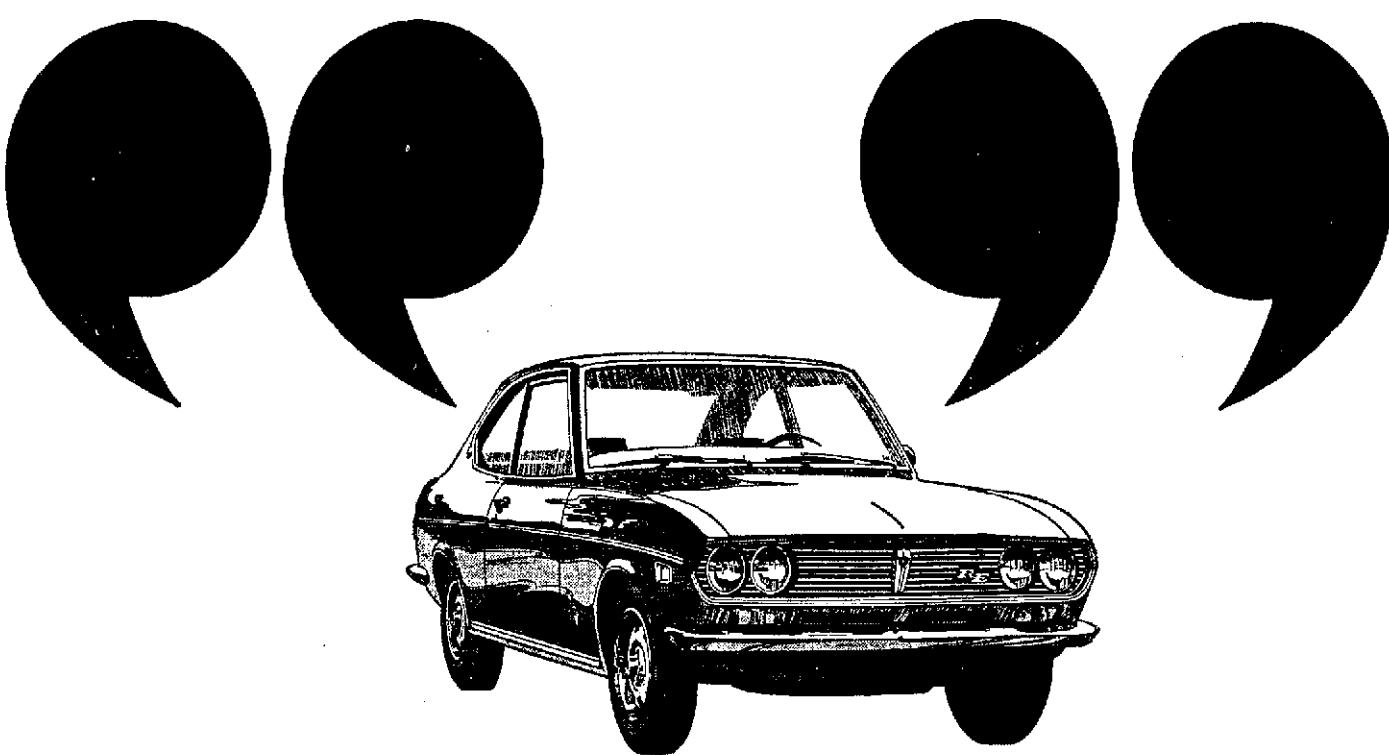

Mortenson shot a 3-under-par 69 at Old Ranch with a ball out-of-bounds in the 1969 Masters, the year he set the tournament record of 1-under-par for 72 holes.

The stocky, 25-year-old has carded only one bad round in his last eight in Masters competition, and that was in the wind at Lakewood last year. Steadiness is his forte.

Good is the state public champion and Wishon is a college star at Cal State Long Beach. Both play more golf than their Masters' rivals.

Bryan, the oldest entry at 49, is a former runnerup in the Long Beach City Championship who is getting better with age.

Lancers nip Jordan, Wilson, Saints score

Lakewood, Wilson and St. Anthony High baseball teams emerged victorious Friday.

The Lancers nipped Jordan, 4-3; Wilson downed Los Alamitos, 9-2, and the Saints thrashed El Rancho, 5-1.

Lakewood, defending Moore League champ which boosted its record to 2-0, was led by Jack Neimeyer with two RBI and catcher Randy Vanderhook with a triple, single and RBI. Jordan (0-2) was sparked by Greg Sliwinski, who had two hits and one RBI.

Wilson (2-1) clubbed 14 singles in its victory, with Steve Duncan, Dave Hoskins, Rick Knifer, Bob Thurston, Rhin Holm and George Delalla accounting for the damage. Thurston drove in three runs.

St. Anthony (1-1) was paced by John Crotty and Bob Hill, each with two hits. El Rancho committed five errors.

CERRITOS MEETS LACC IN CLASSIC FINALS

Cerritos lost a chance to take the L.A. Collegiate Classic Friday afternoon when the Falcons dropped a 5-3 decision to L.A. City College.

They have another chance today when they face the Cubs a second time in the double-elimination tournament.

L.A. City had already lost one game in the tournament while Cerritos went into the contest without a tourney loss, so the Falcons get another opportunity.

It would have won the tournament.

Marshall Edwards and Solomon Lafore both drove in two runs for L.A. City, while Rick Seutlinger's relief help held off Cerritos to give the Cubs a chance at the championship.

Jeff Brinkley was the only Falcon with two hits as the catcher had a two-for-three day, while Lafore and Mike Edwards had two hits.
